KNOW BEFORE YOU GO.

The country is famous for its mosques, palaces, riads, and medinas, each featuring intricate designs and captivating artistry. Some examples of iconic architectural landmarks in Morocco include the Hassan II Mosque in Casablanca, Bahia Palace in Marrakech, and the ancient Roman ruins of Volubilis.

“A country of dazzling diversity, Morocco has epic mountains, sweeping deserts and ancient cities, and it greets travelers with warm hospitality and the perfect glass of mint tea.

Against the soaring peaks of the Atlas Mountains, picturesque Berber villages, palm-filled oases and undulating desert landscapes set the stage for an extraordinary range of adventures. There's hiking along craggy clifftops overlooking the stunning scenery of Todra Gorge and Dadès Gorge, mule treks through Skoura and lush river valleys, and desert wanders by camel amid the sculpted sand dunes surrounding Merzouga and M'Hamid”
Fez's medieval remains is the world's largest car-free urban area: donkeys cart goods down the warren of alleyways, with ruinous pockets.

Meknes winding narrow medina streets, grand buildings warrant its' status of an imperial city; and one-time home of the Moroccan sultanate”.

Erfoud, Jewish Morocco, is a desert area that was underwater hundred of thousands of years ago. Erfoud is built on fossils which sustain an important industry. Try the wood-fired madfouna or Berber 'pizza' and Erfoud dates.

Casablanca's waterfront boulevard (Corniche) is lined with umbrella-shaded beach cafés, chic lounges, and ocean-view restaurants. Casablanca's port is one of the largest artificial ports in the world, and the second largest port in North Africa.

Rabat is a cultural city deep-rooted in history. Many masterpieces decorate its streets and squares. Visit the Kasbah des Oudayas which is a majestic and splendid architecture embellished by the surrounding gardens.
