OMAN KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

*“Amid the sky-scraping, gold-obsessed cities of the Gulf, Muscat is a breath of fresh air - literally. Here, Oman’s mighty Hajar mountains, the highest range in the Arabian Peninsula, meet soft-sand beaches where wild turtles nest, and a 200-year-old souk promises treasures galore. Muscat loves a little glamour - just look at its glittering Al Alam Palace - but this is a city that takes pride in its traditions, its hospitality, and its rich maritime history. Prepare to be dazzled for all the right reasons. There are countless ways to delve into Muscat’s culture, whether in its many museums or by exploring the old town, but this city isn’t stuck in the past. From star-studded concerts at the magnificent Royal Opera House Muscat to spotting wild dolphins on a sunset cruise, these are the best things to do in Muscat, including where to eat, drink and shop during your stay”. ## THINGS TO DO IN OMAN

1. Bahla Fort, a UNESCO World Heritage Site (labyrinthine fort complex, wind towers, mosques, houses and wells)
  2. Bahla Old Souq
  3. Nizwa, a city with a strong religious and cultural heritage...minarets of mosques rise over sand-colored buildings surrounded by the Hajar Mountains.
  4. Nizwa Fort, Nizwa Souq
  5. Falaj Daris Park, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, 10-minute drive from Nizwa. Falaj channels are ancient but highly efficient irrigation method.
  6. Musandam Peninsula: where mountain peaks rise from the sea. ...a sublime landscape of jagged peaks of the Hajar Mountains rising from the turquoise sea, leaving narrow inlets of water in between, a sight that has been compared to the fjords of Norway.
    - a. A boat trip on a traditional dhow (wooden boat) is the best way to experience the Musandam Peninsula, visiting islands and spotting a dolphin or whale in these waters. The town of Khasab is a good base from which to arrange a boat tour or snorkeling trip, or a mountain safari by 4WD to Jebel Harim. If you’ve got more time, other villages, wadis and fjord-like inlets such as Khor Najd are ready to be explored.
    - b. Jebel Akhdar: find cooler temperatures at Green Mountain. At 2,980m up in the Hajar Mountains, Jebel Akhdar – whose name translates to Green Mountain – is one of the most beautiful places in Oman. It’s also one of the coolest, with the temperature being about 15°C (59°F) cooler than Muscat throughout the year. The mountain even sees some snowfall in winter.
    - c. Around Jebel Akhdar, you’ll find quiet Omani villages: ...slopes covered with terraced farms watered by falaj channels, orchards of pomegranates, peaches, apples, apricots, walnuts. In the spring, Jebel Akhdar is covered by pink Damask roses...
  7. Jebel Shams, the country’s highest peak at 3,009m in the Hajar Mountains.. ..Other
